

WHAT ARE YOUR STRENGTHS?

Your strengths are your biggest assets. Knowing your value and what you can bring to the team will help you separate yourself from other candidates.

Equally important is knowing your weaknesses and how they impact others. This allows the interviewer to see that you are self-aware. Just like any successful entrepreneur or business owner, knowing your strengths and weaknesses will give you an advantage and lead you to success. Sometimes identifying your strengths and weaknesses can be hard, take this personality quiz to learn more about yourself. Use this Worksheet to write out your SWOT.

STRENGTHS

- I'm very open-minded.
- I'm always willing to help, no matter the issue.
- I'm passionate about technology which allows me to enjoy my work.

WEAKNESSES

- I'm usually too stubborn to give up on a project I know I can finish.
- I tend to over-prepare
- Occasionally I get overloaded when left without direction.

OPPORTUNITIES THREATS

I'm well trained in many areas of both hardware and software work.

I'm very social which allows me to network more easily.

I'm always willing to learn new skills.

- I'm a little slow to learn.
- I've had issues before with deadlines.
- I always trust myself more than I should to get things outside of my credentials done.

